1. About the Journal

It is a matter of immense pleasure for all of us in the SKCG College family to introduce the E-Journal, JSKCGC-2020 of this college in this most opportune time of an On-line academic ambience. Keeping the prevailing Covid situation and our academic imperatives in view as well, we have endeavored to open this online platform for our own faculty and also for like-minded academicians-researchers across the State and Country. Presently, this will be a free-to access issue with publication of text-only content along with minimum data, i.e., tables, charts, and figures etc. in pdf and HTML format. We do have a plan of subsequent widening into video streaming and animations etc., depending on a sustained success of our efforts. The details of the feature-nature of the Journal along with the authors' instruction can be accessed through the link provided. Notwithstanding the obvious hardware-software-connectivity-bandwidth barriers we are trying our level best to live up to the present day standards, taking maximum advantage of all the available parameters of E-publication paradigms.
